The Cornmarket Project Value Proposition

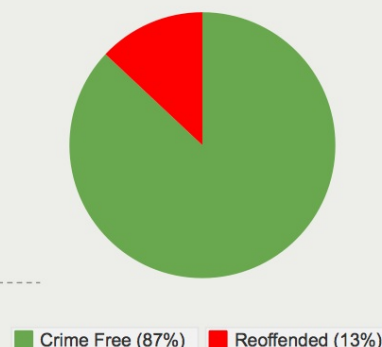

The Cornmarket Project is in the business of creating lasting positive change by dealing with substance misuse, criminality and social exclusion in County Wexford. We adhere to the highest standards of corporate and clinical governance and manage ourselves professionally. Our high performance teams deliver proven results throughout County Wexford using our unique COAIM knowledge management and quality system tools. Through agreements with our key stakeholders, we deliver a range of services in compliance with budget allocations, on target and on schedule. We pride ourselves on having a countywide footprint supported by local resources.

The chart above shows the range of substance abuse issues dealt with by the project in 2014 based on a projected total of 315 clients for the full year

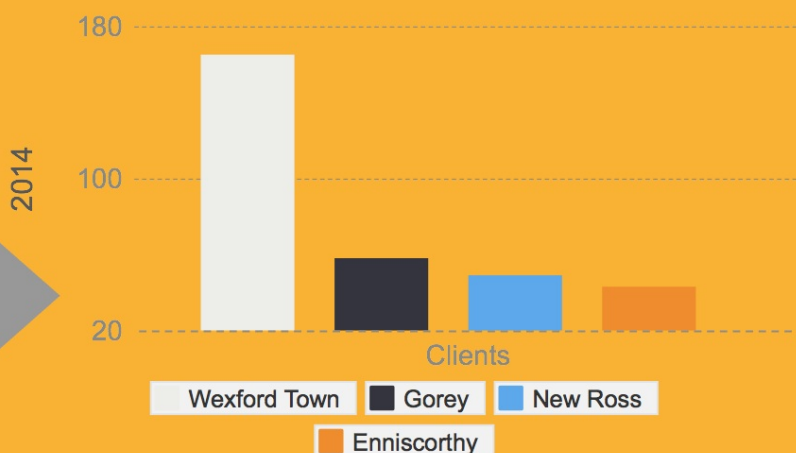

This chart shows the percentage of clients whose status after engaging with the project's programmes was either drug free, stable (getting there) or had gone back abusing drugs/and or alcohol

The chart above represents the percentage of clients who managed to stay out of trouble with the criminal justice system and those who re-offended during 2014

The graph opposite shows the distribution of clients across the county for the year to the end of 2014. This number will increase in 2015 with the new expansion and new premises in Enniscorthy, Gorey and New Ross have been secured for this purpose.
